Rich and Poor, National Figures Stand in Reverent Silence as Bronze Casket Is Lowered Into Grave at Statehouse.

DIKTATOR'S FATHER SUPPORTS WIDOW

Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith Conducts Services at Gravestide; Many Show Tear-Stained Faces.

BATON ROUGE La., Sept. 12.—(UP)—Huey P. Long was buried today in the surroundings where he rose from obscurity to directing genius of a political empire unparalleled in American history.

Around the grave and extending over the broad terraced acres of the state house park were thousands who came to pay tribute to the Louisiana dictator and United States senator who died at the hands of an assassin.

Rich and poor, national figures and leaders of the organization Long welded into an amazing political machine stood in reverent silence as the handsome bronze casket containing the body was lowered into the grave. Many tear-stained faces were seen in the great throng.

Before the casket was closed to public view state officials estimated 100,000 persons saw the body as it lay in state in the rotunda of the tower in $5,000,000 state house. Long built. They said approximately 175,000 persons were in the vicinity of the capitol during the funeral services.

The body was borne to the freshly turned mound in a sunken garden on the state house park by leaders of Long's organization and the brief service was conducted by the Wealth Club and his close personal friend, Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith.

No Expenses Spared.

No expense was spared to make Long's funeral the most elaborate in Louisiana history. Florists said the scores of floral offerings cost around $25,000. The casket was said to have cost $5,000.

The massive doors of the state house were closed promptly at 5 p.m. At time and a moment later the procession started to the freshly turned mound across the plaza from the skyscraper capitol.

Mrs. Long and their three children, relatives of members of the senate and house and a host of others followed the casket. Huey P. Long Sr., 82-year-old father of the senator supported the widow.

The pallbearers were Governor O.

New Speed Record Set for Airplanes

SANTA ANA, Cal., Sept. 12.—(UP)—Howard Hughes, young oil millionaire and film producer, tonight shot his red-winged, sardine-shaped "mystery" plane through the air at a record-breaking top speed of 352 miles an hour, timed by official electric camera clocks.

William Eneyart of Washington, D. C., secretary of the National Aerautical Contest Board, flying in Amelia Earhart Putnam's trans-Pacific monoplane, registered the official timing.

FLOYD BENNETT AIRPORT, N. Y., Sept. 12.—(UP)—Laura Ingalls smashed the women's transcontinental speed record by more than three hours tonight when she brought her "Auto-De-Po" airplane out of the west after a nonstop flight from Los Angeles.

Her official time was 13 hours, 34 minutes, 5 seconds.

OIL HEIR IS JAILED IN MYSTERY DEATH OF STAGE BEAUTY

Evelyn Hoey Was Victim of Suicide. H. H. Rogers Jr. Declares in Pennsylvania Farm Tragedy.

DOWNTON, Pa., Sept. 12.—(AP)—Young and wealthy Henry Hudston Rogers III, son of the late Standard Oil baron, was held in jail tonight under suspicion of murder in the fatal shooting of lovely Evelyn Hoey in a bedroom of his country home.

The honey-haired, blue-eyed musical comedy singer, whose lyrical "blues" voice enraptured audiences in New York, Paris and London, was found with a .45 caliber bullet wound through her head after a night of drinking and quarreling in Rogers' big stone house on Brandywine creek.

With Rogers was William J. Kelly, a motion picture cameraman of Union City, N. J., the only other guest at the house. Both asserted the girl's death was a suicide.

Atlanta Charges Federation Seeking 'To Use' His Committee.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Representative Robert Ramspeck, of Georgia, refused today to address the convention here of the American Federation of Government Employees, charging the federation with attempts "to use" the house civil service committee, which he heads.

He commented as well, he believed an invitation to him to speak before the convention was "purposely delayed" so it would not be accepted.

The representative gave his refusal in a letter to E. Claude Babcock.

HINTS TO WOMEN ABOUT MEN AND SALADS—

by THE FLAVOR TWINS

ZEST TANG

If the man of the house merely grunts at salads, try this simple bundle of life and pep! Mix finely chopped cabbage with halved shrimp—use a few fresh or canned shrimps for garnish. But here's the trick. Stir in Durkee's Dressing. He'll positively gloat over it's peppy Tang.

Or give him this treat: Crabmeat or tuna fish fresh or canned, mixed with shredded lettuce and diced green peppers. Then stir in the Durkee's Dressing—it has a way all its own of coaxing out the flavors a man likes—and it gives him lots of Zest. How did those flavor twins—Zest and Tang—get their start? The answer is Durkee's secret 75-year-old flavor-formula—it has never been successfully copied.

president of the federation, who read before the convention.

It said:

"Your letter of August 29 inviting me to attend the convention has been received, and it occurs to me you are very late in thinking of this matter."

In view of the attitude which you have assumed toward me and your efforts to use the committee for propaganda purposes, of course I would not be interested in attending your convention.

"I am quite sure you purposely delayed my invitation because you knew it would not be accepted at such a late date."

Babcock said he had no comment to make concerning the letter. Nor was there any comment forthcoming on another letter from the representative to Miss Esther Penn, secretary of the federation, which charged the president of the federation, Stewart, with "plain misstatement" concerning activities of the committee.

The letter speaks for itself," was the only comment Congressman Ramspeck had to make last night at his home in Decatur.

ALL JINXES DEFIED ON FRIDAY THE 13TH

Timid Soul Forgets Hoodoos, Fears and Superstitions Today.

Today is the timid soul's day. It's the day the chap with the normal courage of a hutchful of rabbits deliberately insults his wife's breakfast efforts.

He'll stop down at the corner and be sure he and two other fellows light cigarettes of the same match. He'll open every eye he can find for a ladder to walk under. A black cat crossing his path will leave him at an ecstatic feeling of good fortune.

If nobody tips the salt at luncheon, he'll be sure to do it, and be very careful not to toss any of it over his shoulder. A horseshoe or a four-leaf clover will cause him to emit boastful poohs, accompanied by a couple of piffles.

Should he by chance be single, he'll get married today. If he hasn't planned a journey, he will. And he won't be able to act like that again until December.

What's the day? Friday, the 13th.

DR. OWENSBY SPEAKS TO INSURANCE GROUP

Tells Claim Association Mind Is Major Influence in Disease.

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, Sept. 12.—(UP)—Dr. Newdigate, of Atlanta, told the International Claim Association, in convention here, that the old adage about a man being sound in body and therefore in mind is just about as correct as it would be for a mechanic to presume that the engine of an automobile is in perfect condition because the body is undented and shining and the upholstery unsoiled.

Babcock won re-election as president of the federation, though differences within the organization had forced the nomination of Paul T. David, of Knoxville, Tenn., for the office.

EUROPE TRIP SET BY MORGENTHAU

Treasury Chief Is Told Continent Interested In Stabilization.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—(AP)—A keen European interest in the possibilities of international exchange stabilization was reported to Washington today by Charles E. Stuart, vice president of the Export-Import Bank.

He made the statement as Secretary Morgenthau formally announced his plan for a visitation trip to Europe.

The treasury head was emphatic in saying that neither stabilization nor other business discussions will have any place in his plans.

Stuart had just returned from visits to England, France, Germany, Italy, Russia, Rumania and Turkey. He outlined conditions existing in the international trade and credit markets.

Last May, Morgenthau said the United States was open to stabilization overtures, but asserted the first move must come from abroad.

At his press conference today the secretary said he and Mrs. Morgenthau will sail Saturday on the Italian liner Conte Grande for Spain and Portugal.

THREE MEALS A DAY

HOME TESTED RECIPES
BY Sally Sauer

Have you been on a search for a good moderate priced oven roast for your Sunday dinner? Let us suggest a shoulder cut of veal or lamb. At the present time you could make no better selection for a meal—perfect tenderness and excellent economy.

Those shoulder cuts, with the bone in, look a bit bulky and difficult to handle for carving but your butcher will bone it for you at your request and will either roll the meat like a rolled rib roast or pocket it for you.

Be sure to ask for the bones, too, for they make delicious broth which will serve as a foundation for a filling luncheon soup.

A shoulder cut of veal—which includes the bone—is cut from the shoulder joint, with neck or forequarters, will weigh about five or six pounds with the bone in. A whole lamb shoulder will weight slightly less. It is wisest to buy the whole cut—then have it boned as you desire it. No Pot Roasting Needed.

Even though these shoulder roasts are commonly called less tender cuts they are actually tender and juicy when properly prepared by choice oven roasting method which gives that delicious roast flavor and brown color. There is no necessity of pot roasting methods on these cuts.

If the meat has been boned and rolled place it in an open roaster, salt it with one teaspoon salt to each pound of meat, add water, cover, and bake in a 300-350-degree Fahrenheit oven. Veal needs 25-30 minutes per pound while lamb needs 30-35 minutes to secure well done meat. Reduce the time per pound by five minutes if the bone is left in.

Veal shoulder which has little fat of its own is improved by a few strips of salt pork or bacon over the top of the roast.

A stuffed roast made from the boned and pocketed shoulder is, to a good many tastes, even better than the plain roast. A delicious onion stuffing, celery stuffing or mint stuffing for lamb adds not only to the flavor but extends the roast to serve several more people.

Serve the veal roast with buttered asparagus, French friend onion rings, creamed peas and apples, glazed in pineapple juice.

The lamb roast will take new spinach, stuffed onions, a mint sauce, baked pears with currant jelly and a cucumber salad.

Veal Shoulder Roast.

Choose a veal shoulder arm cut weighing 5-6 pounds. If preferred it may be boned and rolled or boned for stuffing.

Serve the veal roast with buttered asparagus, French friend onion rings, creamed peas and apples, glazed in an open roasting pan with bone side down. Salt, using one teaspoon per pound of meat. Lay thin strips of salt pork over the surface of the meat and place in a roasting pan. Allow to cook uncovered and without the addition of any water in a 300-degree Fahrenheit oven for 30 minutes to the pound.

Stuffed Shoulder of Lamb.

Have a shoulder of lamb boned and pocketed for stuffing. Stuff with bread dressing made by combining three cups of moistened stale bread with one egg, one tablespoon finely chopped onion browned in 1-4 cup butter, one tablespoon chopped parsley, and seasonings of 1-1/2 teaspoons salt and 1-2 teaspoons pepper. Roast in a slow oven (325 degrees) for 30 minutes to the pound. Serve with onions which have been par-boiled, then partially hollowed out and filled with cream sauce and heavily buttered bread crumbs, and baked until brown.

Warning to Mothers.

The school bell is ringing again. And one of its notes should be a warning to mothers to keep the youngsters fit and strong for their winter's work. They've gained at camp and seashore, mountain and country vacations. They will need a little extra watching if the good work is to go on. A simple lunch after school something like for dinner can't stop the appetite weight. A glass of milk or fruit juice, or a milk shake, with some crunchy, nourishing cookies, easily made and wholesome, is a good choice. Here are some new recipes for tasty dainties that can be made in a jiffy and are failure-proof.

Praline Cookies.

Two tablespoons butter, one-half can sweetened condensed milk (caramelize), one egg, slightly beaten, four tablespoons flour, one cup pecans, coarsely chopped.

Cream butter, add caramelized sweetened condensed milk, slightly beaten, egg and flour and blend thoroughly. Add pecans. Drop by spoonfuls on a buttered pan. (Several inches apart, as these spread greatly in baking.) Bake in a moderate oven (350 degree Fahrenheit) about 10 minutes or until brown. Remove from oven at once. Place on a platter on a cookie sheet to become crisp. Makes 24.

To caramelize sweetened condensed milk place one or more unopened cans in a kettle of boiling water. Keep at boiling point for three hours, being careful to keep can well covered with water. Chill thoroughly. Remove from can as follows:

Turn can over, immersing in hot water about one minute. Punch a hole in bottom of can, remove top with can opener, cutting along the side, just below top edge, starting at seam. Loosen caramel from sides of can with a table knife dipped in hot water.

Fruited Oatmeal Drops.

One one-third cup (1 can) sweetened condensed milk, one-fourth cup molasses, two cups rolled oats, one half cup nut meats, chopped, one-half cup seedless raisins.

Thoroughly blend sweetened condensed milk, molasses and rolled oats in top of double boiler. Cook over boiling water 10 minutes or until mixture thickens, stirring frequently. Cool. Add nut meats and raisins. Melt. Drop by spoonfuls on buttered baking sheet. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees Fahrenheit) 15 minutes or until brown. Remove from pan at once. Makes 36.

Farewell Luncheon.

(Suitable for girls leaving for college, or for sentimental occasions.)

Menu for Eight.

Frozen Fruit Salad Cheesed Wafers Creamed Chicken in Patty Shells Buttered Asparagus

Rolled Oats Currant Jam

Chocolate Cake Coffee

Frozen Fruit Salad

1 cup mayonnaise, 2-3 cup whipped cream, 1 cup diced pineapple, 1 cup diced peaches, 1-2 cup diced pears, 1-2 cup red cherries, 1 tablespoon lemon juice.

1-2 cup cold cereal and fresh regular freezer method or freeze 4 hours in mechanical refrigerator. Serve on lettuce and top with more mayonnaise mixed with whipped cream.

Creamed Chicken

1-3 cup butter or chicken fat, 1-2 cup flour, 1-2 cups milk 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon paprika, 1-4 teaspoon celery salt, 2 cups diced cooked chicken, 3 tablespoons chopped pimento.

Melt butter and add flour. When well blended, add milk and cook slowly until thick sauce forms. Stir constantly. Add rest of ingredients and cook 4 minutes. Serve in commercial patties shells or pie crust cases. Garnish with parsley or water cress.

Chocolate Cake

1-2 cup fat, 1-2 cup sugar, 1 cup sour milk, 3 squares chocolate, melted, 3 eggs, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1-4 teaspoon cinnamon, 1-8 teaspoon salt, 2 cups flour, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon baking powder.

Cream fat and sugar. Add rest of ingredients and beat 3 minutes. Pour into 2 layer-cake pans lined with waxed paper and bake 25 minutes in moderately slow oven. Cool and frost.

Honey Bran Muffins.

2 cups pastry flour, 1 teaspoon soda, 1-2 teaspoons baking powder, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 2 cups all-bran, 1-3 cup honey, 3 tablespoons melted butter, 1-3 cups sour milk or buttermilk, 1-3 cup chopped nut meats (optional).

Sift flour, soda, baking powder, and salt together. Stir in all-bran. Beat the egg, add honey, melted shortening, and sour milk. Stir together well. Turn the combined wet ingredients into the combined dry ingredients. Use a wooden spoon to mix, if necessary. Do not beat. (If no nuts are used, add them to the dry ingredients). Fill butter-greased muffin pans 2-3 full. Makes 18 muffins.

Instead of taking time to preheat the oven try this: Remove the heat shield. Place the muffins on the rack in the second groove from the bottom. Close the door. Set the temperature control to 425-450 degrees. Turn switch to "preheat". Bake 15 minutes.

Hermits.

1-2 cup shortening, 1 cup yellow sugar, 2 eggs, 1-2 teaspoon soda, 1-2 cup sour milk, 2 cups flour, 1-3 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon nutmeg, 1-2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1-2 teaspoon cloves, 3-4 cup chopped raisins, 1-4 cup chopped nuts.

Cream the shortening; work in the sugar; and add the eggs, slightly beaten. Combine the flour and sour milk; add to the mixture, and beat until blended. Sift the flour, salt and spices together; add the raisins and nuts; and stir into the first mixture. Drop by teaspoons onto an oiled shallow pan or cookie sheet; and bake in a hot oven, 375 degrees F. for 10 minutes, or until brown. Remove from the pan and cool.

Swedish Spritz Cookies.

1 cup shortening, 1 cup superfine powdered sugar, 2 egg yolks, 2 1-2 cups cake flour, 1 teaspoon almond extract, 1-2 teaspoons water, 1 egg white, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Cream shortening thoroughly, then add the superfine powdered sugar gradually. Add egg yolks, then flour and salt, and flavoring. Chill dough. Place in a cookie press, using any shape nozzle desired to form "S" wreaths, bows, knots, ribbons, etc. To decorate, dip the wreaths in a small egg white diluted with water and sprinkle with chopped nuts or sprinkles. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) for 8 minutes or until a delicate brown. This makes about 60 cookies.

WALTER SIMS URGES RATIFICATION OF BONDS

miliar with its since I served as a member of city council. During my four years as mayor of Atlanta, when it was my duty to survey the needs of all departments from an impartial standpoint, it was impressed upon me that the sewer situation was a problem to the city and deadly need to the public health. When I was a member of the state senate of Georgia two years ago, I passed through the senate a bill creating a metropolitan sewer district, so as to set up a machine for Atlanta and Fulton and DeKalb counties and Kali, county, and the various suburban municipalities, to join together in financing a sewer program for all of our local communities combined. To my disappointment, and through no fault of mine, the bill was not passed through the legislature.

Mug Be Built.

"These trunk sewers and disposal plants have got to be built. If they are not built, citizens living or owning property on polluted streams will obtain relief in the courts. If they cannot get relief in the state courts, they can and will get it in the federal court. This would be a comparatively simple matter for Congress, offering from its power to place the city of Atlanta in the hands of a receiver, with mandatory instructions upon the receiver to use so much of the city's revenue as might be necessary, and for so long a period as might be necessary, to build these sewers and disposal plants and to take this pollution out of these streams, once and for all."

"The only question involved in the situation is whether we are going to do the work with federal aid or without federal aid. By issuing a small amount of bonds, ($1,500,000), we can get federal aid if necessary, and for so long a period as might be necessary, to build these sewers and disposal plants and to take this pollution out of these streams, once and for all."

"I hear some citizens express objection to the large expenditures of the federal government to provide employment for idle men. Whether we approve or disapprove of this program, it is going to be carried out, regardless, and if this federal aid allocated to Atlanta is not used by Atlanta, it will be expended elsewhere in Georgia, and we will derive no benefit from it."

"It seems to me that this is the most one-sided question that has ever been presented to our people. I cannot see how any citizen can find any ground for objecting to the issuance of these bonds. The bonding capacity of the city of Atlanta, as Mr. Maddox pointed out, is nearly $15,000,000. It is proposed to use only $1,500,000 of this capacity to obtain federal aid for a project that would cost us, if we did it alone and did it by contract, every bit of $10,000,000. If that were done, the city's financial resources would be stretched to the limit, and there would not be a new school house for ten years or longer."

"This program will provide employment for thousands of men and will put into circulation vast amount of money which will stimulate trade and lubricate the wheels of business and give Atlanta a powerful forward impulse toward recovery."

"Yours Very Truly,

sions of pacts to end existing discriminations against United States imports.

"Practical effect of the new policy will be the withholding from Germany of reduced duties on nearly 100 articles granted in treaties with Sweden, Belgium and Haiti—and the prospective refusal to extend any concessions which may be granted France, Switzerland, Italy, Canada and other nations which were willing to reciprocate tariff rates being negotiated."

Foreign trade observers here expect the higher tariffs to handicap greatly future German sales in the American market.

With two brief and limited exceptions the United States previously had always granted equality of treatment to goods of all nations entering this country.

Between 1890-1894 and 1897-1907 the United States entered into a few agreements with other nations which gave specific products somewhat lower rates than those given similar articles to other countries.

The present development in American-German commercial relations was reached through a chain of circumstances linked by Germany's desperate efforts to recapture its lost foreign trade, and the Roosevelt administration's drive to expand American foreign markets through reciprocal trade pacts.

Ambassador Luther notified Secretary Hull last October Germany was forced to make special "balance trade" and barter agreements with other countries in order to obtain raw materials for German industries.

It was necessary, the ambassador said, for Germany to import from nations which bought equivalent amounts of German goods. Such favoritism was cited in numerous United States protests as in violation of the existing German-American treaty, the first of its kind ever consummated by the United States. Germany thereupon sought and obtained abrogation of the treaty.

To preserve normal commercial relations, the countries signed a new treaty last June which dropped the most-favored-nation clause and left tariff questions for future settlement.

Ambassador Luther has made overtures toward a new pact without the participation of the United States. The United States offered to negotiate one on the basis of equality of treatment for American goods. The German government has not replied.

More than 1,000 men work on ship canal

OCALA, Fla., Sept. 12.—(AP)—A problem of housing developed here today as the cross-state canal workers' roster passed the 1,000 mark and gave indications of swelling to 2,000 by next week.

Some 300 carpenters are expected to arrive tomorrow for work on the headquarters unit at Camp Roosevelt, which is being built by the Army.

Colonel Breton Somerville, construction chief, said excavation will start Saturday with a crew of about 700 men. First digging will be at a point about seven miles south of Ocala.

175,000 PAY TRIBUTE AT GRAVESIDE OF LONG

K. Allen, Lieutenant Governor James A. Noe, Speaker Allen Ellender, of the state house of representatives; Senator Weiss, Long's political treasurer; Supreme Court Justices John M. Fournet and Robert S. Maestri, commissioners of conservation.

The campaign song, "Every Man a King," Long selected for his annual share-the-wealth campaign, which he hoped would lead him to the presidency in 1936, was played by the Louisiana State University band, an organization idolized by the senator.

Friend Meets Casket.

At the grave, banked high with the multi-colored floral designs Mrs. Smith met the casket.

"To summarize the influence and noble attributes of this man is as though one went out to measure the boundary of a lake, only to discover that he was on the arm of the ocean," the minister said in the eulogy.

"His spirit shall never rest as long as hungry bodies cry for food, as long as lean human frames stand naked, as long as hopeless wrecks haunt this land of plenty. His affection for these sufferers was stronger than the flesh and it was everlasting as the soul."

"Mental wizard was this man . . . social crusader . . . educational enthusiast . . . political genius, orator supreme . . . statesman . . . true . . . tender father, loving husband."

Airplanes dromed overhead during the service. Officers had difficulty handling the crowd before the procession reached the grave and "I want to throw myself on Huey Long's grave." A half dozen special officers subdued him.

Lauds Principles.

Immediately after the funeral Governor Allen issued a statement that "the principles for which Huey Long stood will survive through the ages as long as courage and decency lasts."

"In due time his resting place will be appropriately marked as a reminder to those who dedicate themselves to the public service that it is not all of life to live, not all of death to die; and as a warning to those who plotted and inspired his death that the tide that sweeps onward toward equality between rich and poor and equal justice for all alike cannot be stemmed by the bullet of an assassin."

The last tribute to Long was at the scene of his greatest triumphs.

The senator reposed in the beautiful casket as it lay in state in the capitol. Tears streamed down the faces of many who looked at him.

Some remarked how natural he looked. Although 42 years old, he appeared to be much younger in death.

Long had expressed the wish that he might be buried in the surroundings where he had risen to power. Long remained in respect to the senator's request.

New Chief Sought.

Left without their dominant chief, whose control had grown during the seven years of his power into a virtual dictatorship, the group composing the Long organization found itself floundering about for a man to fill his place.

A congressional investigation of Long's assassination by Dr. Carl A. Weiss, Baton Rouge eye specialist, was asked by Mr. Smith. The minister believed information gained from such an investigation would shake the nation."

Earl Christenberry, Long's secretary, expressed the conviction that Dr. Weiss was a member of a group who drew straws to see who would kill them.

Long's Friends to Testify.

District Attorney John Fred Odum said he would summon Long's leaders to testify at an inquest three times postponed. He did not set a date for the hearing.

From the immediate family of Dr. Weiss said they had no information connecting the specialist with any drawing of lots as charged by Christenberry.

Although Governor Allen is titular head of the Long machine, Seymour Weiss, president of the New Orleans bar, and Long's political treasurer, has been giving orders since the senator's death.

It remains to be seen, however, whether Weiss will take up where Long left off and dominate the state administration's political policies.

Resistance Seen.

Any attempt on the part of Weiss

Long Rites Most Elaborate In Louisiana's History

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 12.—No expense was spared to make the funeral of the assassinated Huey P. Long the most elaborate in Louisiana history. Flowers estimated the lavish floral offerings to value around $25,000. The beautiful silk-lined, bronze casket Long was laid to rest in was said to have cost $5,000.

All available space in the rotunda of the state capitol where the senator's body, dressed in tuxedo, was reviewed in state was flooded with a gorgeous display of flowers of every classification.

Many of the flowers were arranged in unusual design in addition to the traditional wreaths, sprays and baskets. An anchor of asters was placed in a wreath. An anchor of roses stood nearby.

Just to the head of the coffin was a floral offering arranged to resemble an open book. A ribbon attached told that it commemorated the efforts of Senator Long in passage of free schoolbook legislation. The Louisiana University band sent a party of trumpeters and fife players to the school colors.

The riot of color was broken only by the thin, rope-off aisle down which the silent throngs slowly marched past their late "dictator."

take charge in all probability will meet resistance from others of the high command.

Weiss—no relation to the assassin—struck up an acquaintance with Long when the senator established himself in the Roosevelt hotel operated by Weiss' New Orleans.

From this acquaintance blossomed a friendship which led Weiss to a place in the inner councils of Long's machine. Quiet and reserved, he is about 40 years old.

Several months ago Weiss was induced along with a number of other political and personal associates of Long on charges of income tax evasion.

Mayor T. Semmes Walmsley, of New Orleans, who bucked Long and came out the loser, was not at the funeral.

SHACKELFORD ATTACKS TALMADGE LINT PLAN

Athens Man Says Voiding of Tax Would Mean
Cheap Staple.

ATHENS, Ga., Sept. 12.—Governor Roosevelt's demand that President Roosevelt lift processing and gin taxes, branding their collection as plain "stealing," was characterized by Frank C. Shackelford, here, as another step in a "campaign of deception, with cheap cotton as its aim."

Shackelford, widely known lawyer-farmer and staunch supporter of the democratic control program, called upon Georgia farmers to repudiate attempts of "some big farm spokesmen to mislead them and deliver them into the hands of the textile interests of New England."

If the processing and gin taxes are "knocked out" as the "twin foundation stones of the agricultural program will be gone," Shackelford asserted.

In last night's editorial campaign, Mr. Shackelford was one of the Talmadge leaders in this section.

Shackelford in his statement said:

"Businessmen, bankers and others dependent in large measure upon continuation of a high price for cotton, advised us to use all talk, notice, get busy and help put a stop to this propaganda against the farmers' program, or else they will wake up some fine morning face to face with a depression that will make the last one look like a mild storm."

"All this talk about the farmer paying the processing tax is balloon and it is put out for no other purpose than to break up the agricultural control programs and knock the props from under the price of cotton."

Price Drop Predicted.

"What will happen if the processing and gin taxes are lifted? I'll tell you what will happen, even if these measures are not taken. The cotton market will go plumb to pieces and the price will drop to five and six cents—where it was when Roosevelt took a hand in the farmers' problems."

"Everybody knows and nobody gets better value for the money spent than the farmer does. The processing tax is balanced by the associated banks for some time as result of default by the Van Sweringen brothers of Cleveland was close to restoring to them undisputed control of their $50,000,000 railroad, industrial and real estate empire."

Theoretical control had rested in the lap of J. P. Morgan & Co. and the board, appointed by President Roosevelt, described the project as a "Little TVA" recently.

Proponents have stressed the potential value of such a project for preventing floods at Augusta, regulating the flood of the river to provide a more efficient navigation channel. The project would be at Clark Hill, a few miles above Augusta.

Sleep Walker Injured

In Fall at Brunswick

BRUNSWICK, Ga., Sept. 12.—(AP)—Walking in his sleep shortly after 3 o'clock this morning, E. S. Howard, 35, a retired Army soldier, had reached the roof of his front porch and from there leaped or fell to the pavement below, sustained two broken legs and a possible serious back injury.

Howard was found by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sapp in their home. Howard was unconscious. The couple was awakened by groans of the man and immediately went to his bedroom. Finding the bed unoccupied they looked from the window and saw him, dressed in his sleeping clothes, lying on the sidewalk.

Howard had a distance of about 20 feet from the top of the roof of the porch after he stepped to the roof of the second story window.

He was rushed to a local hospital where attaches this morning reported his condition as serious.

SWERINGENS EXPECTED TO REBUY COLLATERAL

Brothers Expected To Take Reins From Morgan at Auction Today.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Wall Street believed tonight the financial wizardry of the Van Sweringen brothers of Cleveland was close to restoring to them undisputed control of their $50,000,000 railroad, industrial and real estate empire.

Colonel Brown said the board would decide, probably tomorrow, what additional information was needed. He added that in all likelihood, public hearings would be held at Augusta.

Colonel C. Garlington, district engineer at Savannah, attended the meeting.

The project, involving construction of a huge dam, was proposed as a power, flood control and navigation project.

Mr. Richard B. Russell Jr., of Georgia, in announcing membership of the board, appointed by President Roosevelt, described the project as a "Little TVA" recently.

Proponents have stressed the potential value of such a project for preventing floods at Augusta, regulating the flood of the river to provide a more efficient navigation channel. The project would be at Clark Hill, a few miles above Augusta.

ROTARIANS HOLD WEST POINT MEET

Bunyan Stephens, State Gov- ernor, Is Chief Speaker at Session.

WEST POINT, Ga., Sept. 12.—(AP)—Rotarians from a number of Georgia and Alabama cities came here today for a charge of murder in connection with the death of George L. Kiser, found dead on railroad tracks here July 26.

Both brothers of O. P. and M. J. Van Sweringen, it was quickly announced they and their associates had made financial arrangements to bid in the collateral at the auction, and to provide working capital to carry on the fair-flung organization.

It was felt outside interests would outbid the Van Sweringen group at the sale was regarded by sources close to the banking group as an extremely remote possibility although it was pointed out the sale will be absolutely "open."

"Now as to the gin tax, that tax, or penalty, was originated to protect the farmer who wants to co-operate with the Department of Agriculture in controlling cotton production and marketing."

The gin tax was put on to control the outlaws, the fellows who refuse to co-operate; who want to cash in at the other fellow's expense. It is levied to keep the outlaws from breaking up the cotton program. The farmer who keeps within his allotment does not have to pay it; it protects him against the outlaws."

WIFE IS DETAINED IN FLORIDA DEATH

Woman Says Contracting Firm Official Stabbed Himself.

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 12.—(AP)—Frank Fenn, 35, of Coconut Grove, secretary of the W. T. Pipe Inc., contracting firm, died in University Hospital, Coral Gables, of stab wounds today and police detained his pretty young wife and son for questioning.

The wife, Mrs. Cozette Fox Fenn, about 30, has been popular in Coconut Grove circles. The eldest of Fenn's three sons is 14 years old.

Dr. L. S. Rentz, Coconut Grove physician, said he was called to the Fenn residence at 3:10 a. m., arriving just before 10 minutes. He said he found Fenn in the bed and "blood all over everything."

"The family appeared calm," he said. "None was hysterical. Mrs. Fenn said her husband had stabbed himself and Fenn, who was conscious did not deny it. He refused to answer any questions I asked him."

Fenn died later.

WILLIAM G. THOMPSON DIES IN MASSACHUSETTS

BROOKLINE, Mass., Sept. 12.—(AP)—William G. Thompson, 71, vice president of the Boston Bar Association, who conducted the last fight of Nicola Sacco and Bartolo Vanzetti, internationally known radicals, against execution for murder, died today. Death followed a heart attack.

JERRY H. RIKER.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Sept. 12.—(UP)—Jerry H. Riker, 33, former Philadelphia newspaperman and illustrator for nationally circulated periodicals, is dead at his home at Wall Springs, north of here, after a long illness.

EVIDENCE COMPLETED IN TRIAL OF VARMETTE

FORT VALLEY, Ga., Sept. 12.—(AP)—Evidence was completed late today in the state's case against Dewey L. Varmette, on trial for murder for the third time.

Varmette, a government peach pest laborer, employee, is accused of killing slaying Jamie Dixon, young Methodist minister, in August of last year. Jurors in two previous trials were dismissed when they failed to reach a decision.

STATE DEATHS

J. T. MCKENZIE.

LAWRENCEVILLE, Ga., Sept. 12.—J. T. McKenzie, 72, prominent Turkey citizen, died yesterday. He was survived by his wife and 14 children. Mrs. Frank McKinzie of Myers, Texas; Mrs. Brownie of Muenster, Texas; T. S. McKinzie of Cuba, Ga.; Mrs. Oscar Martin, Marietta; Mrs. McDaniel, Mrs. Fred Fowler, Mrs. C. M. Scott, W. O. McKinzie, Mr. and Mrs. McKinzie, Mrs. H. S. McKinzie and R. R. McKinzie, all of Atlanta; Mrs. Charlie Ryan and Frank Berry have been just as pleasant. It will be nice for you and Bannon to carry on.

Funeral will be held from Pleasant Hill Baptist church at Tucker tomorrow afternoon at 10 o'clock; Rev. R. P. Segers officiating. Burial will be in churchyard.

Search for Dalai Lama Spurred by Lake's Omen

CALCUTTA, Sept. 12.—(UPI)—Across the forbidding escarpment of the Tibetan mountains, a group of nomadic tribesmen, slowly journeying to the remote village of Chun Kor Gyal to investigate reports the Dalai Lama, who died in 1933, has been reborn there.

If their tests, made by a highly developed system of magic, convince them the new baby is indeed the reincarnation of the Dalai Lama, he will be taken to the Forbidden City of Lhasa to become eventually spiritual and temporal ruler of thousands of Mongolians.

According to the faith of the followers of the Dalai Lama, which the Buddhist doctrine of reincarnation plays a large part, the head of their religion is reborn at the instant of the last ruler's death. There are infallible omens, they believe, to lead them to the appointed successor to the Dalai Lama's throne.

According to travelers recently arrived here from Lhasa, one of these omens has started the monks on their solemn journey. In a lake near the famous monastery at Lhasa there has been mirrored the village where the new Dalai Lama is found. And it is toward this village that the wise men are traveling.

So why waste time on external remedies or worse about an operation when you have strong tea? "Buy a bottle of HEM-ROID tablets and you have, one bottle of HEM-ROID tablets must show you the safe clean way to get rid of your Pile misery or money back." (ad.)

ENGINEERS TO INSPECT 'LITTLE TVA' PROJECT

Denies Embezzlement
Count.

TALBOTTON, Ga., Sept. 12.—(AP)—

Tender of evidence and testimony was completed today in the case of J. W.

Jordan Sr., former cashier of the closed Bank of Talbotton, charged with embezzeling $155,000 of the bank funds.

Judge C. F. McLaughlin, of superior court, allowed two closing arguments each; defense and prosecution, to be made tomorrow morning.

A jury is expected to begin deliberations late in the day.

In an unsworn statement two hours long, Jordan today denied the charge that he received no benefits from the bank and that there were "honest mistakes" made by him.

Solicitor-General Hollis Fort, of Georgia, is prosecuting the case. Solicitor-General A. J. Perryman, of Georgia, was discredited because he was on the board of directors of the National Resources Board.

The board reviewed available data on the project, including reports made by government engineers.

Colonel C. C. Garlington, district engineer at Savannah, attended the meeting.

The bulk of evidence was documentary, made up of bank records and auditors' reports.

Witnesses for the state included C.

B. Edwards, chairman of the depositors' committee, and H. C. Board,

Atlanta auditor designated by the State Banking Department.

C. F. Thompson, another Atlanta

attorney, was called as a witness for

ATLANTA, GA., SEPT. 13, 1935.

BUSINESS IN ATLANTA

An encouraging picture of the extent to which business and economic conditions generally in Atlanta are steadily improving is shown in the following figures:

In July of this year bank debts totaled $132,457,000 as against $111,046,000 in the same month in 1933. For the same month during these two years bank clearings increased from $128,000,000 to $165,000,000; postal receipts from $269,444 to $316,878; building permits from $131,720 to $219,- 307; water meters from 59,087 to 59,962; gas meters from 44,970 to 50,962; telephones from 57,245 to 67,343; electric meters from 61,- 190 to 70,632, and Georgia Power Company kilowatt output from 111,973,488 to 113,804,154.

These figures are convincing and irrefutable evidence of the expansion of business and the larger number of homes made possible by larger family revenues.

The revelation of general improvement contained in these figures shows that the increased trade, both retail and wholesale, reported by the Federal Reserve Bank in the Atlanta shopping area has spread its benefits throughout the city.

Few cities suffered less than Atlanta during the depression, and there are few, if any, which are in as good position now to reap the full advantage from the upward turn in every section of the country.

Atlanta's firm resistance to the effects of the depression and the leadership assumed in the march toward normalcy are eloquent testimony to the soundness of the city's business conditions and ground for confidence in the future.

THE NUDIST SLOGAN
The followers of nudism, gathered in three-day session at Camp
Rock Lodge, New Jersey, adopted as their chief slogan for the next few months the pledge, "At least one nudist camp in every state of the Union by January 1, 1936."

Serious discussion was given to the subject of how to best teach
"tolerance" to the deluded, clothes-wearing public, the chief objective of this move being to gain privileges of nudists to follow their "beliefs" in all areas set aside in public parks and beaches throughout the country.

It is reported that the nudists practiced what they preached while their convention sessions were being held, but clothed themselves, at least to a certain extent, when meal time came—a distinction which it will no doubt be difficult for the average person, unenlightened to the benefits and inspirations of nudism, to understand.

While the public and the press
were excluded from the sessions, the unenlightened world is informed that the cultural and entertainment programs were featured by—

Peanut races, "exhibition of skilled nudist swim," "singing of nudist
hymns," written by William Sheppard Sparks;" address, "Nudism and Religion;" talk, "The Present Legal Status of Nudism in the United States;" "Nudism Among the Eskimos;"
"What Will Nudism Do to Civilization?" "Vana Vana" and "Winshuffina."

So to the horrors of nudism,
per se, have been added "vana vanaism" and "winshuffina-ism."

Surely even a nudist leader cannot believe that the states will be willing to have their citizens vanavana-ing and winshuffina-ing around the landscape, at all hours of the day and night, and, presumably, in the official nudist uniform.

We fear our nudist friends are in need of advice if they hope to proceed successfully with their newly adopted slogan of a camp in each state. Nudism is bad enough, but vana vana-ism and winshuffina-ism —never!

INTEREST ON OVERDUE DEBTS
Trade journals of the country are generally approving the suggestion that interest be charged on overdue accounts.

The National Retail Credit Association at its 1934 convention recommended that the policy be adopted generally throughout the country, and at this year's convention a resolution was passed urging "the adoption of a carrying charge of one-half of 1 per cent per month
on all charge accounts not paid within 60 days from the first of the month following purchase."

Since this action by the credit association the movement has steadily gained in favor, Cleveland being one of the first cities in which a community plan for charging interest on accounts overdue for longer than a reasonable time has been successfully followed.

The merchants of that city have found that the policy enables them to obtain compensation for carrying accounts beyond regular terms of credit; disciplines the habitually slow-pay customer; prevents discrimination against the customer paying cash or within the prescribed terms of credit; reduces expense and prevents a continual increase in the cost of operation and consequent increase in prices of merchandise; and maintains and protects the interests of the buying public, the credit grantor and the community.

Cleveland is the only large city in which the plan is being generally followed, individual establishments in many other cities have put it into effect, with universally good results.

The experience with the policy has brought a general realization that it is fair and just that interest should be paid on accounts that remain overdue after a normal credit period.

When accounts are allowed to run past the date on which they are due it means that the merchant, industrial establishment or professional man must bear the carrying expense that should rightly fall on the delinquent debtor.

Most business concerns borrow at least a part of their operating expenses and when they are forced to carry their customers for unreasonably long periods they must increase their loans and pay interest that should in fairness be paid by those who do not promptly pay their accounts.

The same situation exists in the case of physicians and other professional men who, with large sums in arrears by their patients and clients, are frequently forced to borrow in order to meet their professional and living expenses.

The system is neither fair nor economically sound, and both creditors and debtors will be benefited by the nation-wide adoption of the suggestion of the National Retail Credit Association that a reasonable interest be charged on overdue accounts.

DEALING WITH ALIENS

A new decree issued by Federico Salmon, Spain's minister of labor, which sharply restricts employment of foreigners and is calculated to go a long way toward solving the Spanish unemployment situation, is in direct contrast to the methods extant throughout the United States.

Heretofore Spain has been one of the easiest countries of Europe for foreigners seeking employment and,
as a result, Salmon said, there has been a great influx of foreign workmen who crowded natives out of their jobs. Spain, Salmon continued, is merely following the example set by most other European countries in affording similar protection to their nationals.

In order to secure employment of any kind in Spain under the new decree a foreigner must register and secure a permit, and even then he may be employed only if there is no Spaniard available for the position in question.

Spain is a republic, but apparently when a minister issues a decree it has the same force as a law. To accomplish the same protection to American workmen it would be necessary for the congress to enact a law to that end.

Meanwhile, our citizens who want to work are being forced into idleness and the relief rolls are doubly augmented. Uncle Sam is entirely too considerate of his unwelcome visitors.

The dullness of German newspapers, caused by oppressive censorship, worries the Nazi regime.
Still, from ban to banal was the logical step.

The millennium is nearer every day.
Most of the paving material has been taken out of resort mattresses and put into a hard highway outside.

Sending congress away from
there was the earlier method of air-conditioning a capitol.

FAIR ENOUGH

BY WEST BROOK PEGLER.

Man Behind NEW YORK,
Sept. 12.—Just Louisiana Guns. to keep the rec-
it be remembered that it was Huey Long who first resorted to the use of guns in the political fight which led to his assassination.

It was Huey who often called up the troops, issuing his orders through his general's local agent, and, naturally,
the people who saw their citizenship
being wrested from them and realized
they were being reduced to an ignominious political status, with no rights and no redress in Louisiana.

It was Huey who enacted a state law last year, and imposed upon himself
the use of baton rods and machine guns, at his own discretion, to intimidate dissenters, without even the necessity for a pretext, and forbidding the courts to interfere. Huey was the one who created another mobile, army to arm the guise of a state highway police, whose members were answerable to him alone, for anything that they might do to American citizens.

Under these conditions the people who regarded their citizenship as an important privilege were placed in an exasperating situation. If they rebelled they put themselves in rebellion against troopers who carried the American flag. They could be shot down by American soldiers or by policemen representing their state government for defending their rights as American citizens.

Cheka Held It is true that Huey and his gang called it "the full. The mere presence of young militiamen under arms, the mere existence of the highway police and the Louisiana Cheka were enough. Of course, there was occasional talk of revolution, but the angry American armed with hunting rifle and household pistols. One old man who took part in the blood purge in New Orleans which cleared out the carpetbaggers after the Civil War, openly volunteered yet again to get more. However, there was no leadership and the decent, conscientious element, including farmers and villagers, were embarrassed by the fact they found themselves united, in a common enmity, with the political troopers and the highway police.

It is a mistake to believe Huey was only interested in New Orleans. Revolt smoldered also in Baton Rouge and a half dozen other counties, or parishes, whose people had no use for the old, crooked regular organization in New Orleans.

EFFORTS TO REINSTATE FIRED OFFICER FAIL

Sturdivant Tries in Vain To Get C. W. Mauldin Placed Back on Force.

Chief T. O. Sturdivant, of the Atlanta police department, last night launched his fifth attempt to get C. W. Mauldin, former city patrolman fired for shooting L. C. Brewer while the officer was under the influence of intoxicants.

Petitions for reinstatement for several former members, dismissed for various charges, were presented to the committee.

Sturdivant served notice on committee members that he would not recommend reinstatement of any man who has been fired "unless Mauldin is put back."

When Mauldin's name was brought before the committee G. D. Bridges, committee chairman, asked:

"What are you doing? Are you playing around? This man was drunk and was trying to police."

Councilman Howard Haire, vice chairman, retorted:

"If he hadn't been drinking this committee would have given him a medal for what he did. He was a good officer."

Bridges, however, balked the attempt and no reinstatement were ordered. Sturdivant, however, found signs of awakening in several cases and there was every indication that a concerted drive to force several men, fired for various offenses, back on the force, will be launched in time for action by the October 3 committee session.

Chief Sturdivant was authorized to procure the services of D. E. Drunkenmiller, toxicologist at Grady Hospital, in the scientific solution of crime. The committee pointed out that no funds are available to retain Drunkenmiller on a full-time basis, but that his services should be made available.

Sturdivant told the committee that 4,000 petitions have been made by the department for the first 8.5 months of this year than for the same period of 1931, the year before he became chief. This record has been made despite the fact that there are 39 fewer men on street duty. Complainant was asked if he had any objection at present to Le and Arzonne's action for violation of the anti-noise ordinances and the committee ordered the department to curb it.

The parade of New Deal laws to the supreme court continued today with a government appeal from a decision denying the right to condemn land for slum clearance projects.

In Louisville state power courts held that the property would not be taken "for a public use," and that the Works Administration therefore could not exercise the sovereign right of eminent domain.

Requesting the nine justices, upon their return to October 12, to review this decision, the government brief cited supreme court decisions which it contended disagreed with the judgment of the lower courts.

Four other cases involving New Deal agencies and legislation already were awaiting the opening of the new term of the high court, which lasts until invalidated NRA rail pension, and the Frazier-Lemke five-year farm mortgage moratorium.

One from Texas challenged the validity of the ginning tax imposed by the Bankhead act on all cotton produced in excess of quotas.

One from Tennessee attacked constitutionality of Tennessee Valley Authority legislation, insisting the government had no right to acquire transmission lines of the Alabama Power Company to help municipalities compete in the sale of electricity.

In a third, the government seeks to set aside the Hoosier Mills decision from Indiana which held invalid the AAA ginning tax.

In the fourth, the Kansas Utilities Company has challenged PWA legislation under which the government made a grant to Burlington, Kan., to assist in providing a municipal electric plant.

The cotton case probably will be argued in November, and the court may announce its decision before the Christmas holidays.

EAST POINT WARDS TO HAVE CONTESTS

Paul Eidson Announces in Second; Heated Campaigns Assured.

A contest in all three wards of East Point was assured yesterday with Paul Eidson's announcement that he would run for councilman from the second ward, replacing E. J. Bass, who will enter politics.

Mrs. Eidson, a resident of East Point for many years, indicated in his announcement that his platform will support the present administration and that he is in accord with the policies of Candidates Ernest Sims, of the first ward, and D. A. Ross, of the third. The present administration advocated adherence to the New Deal, it was said.

M. H. Bishop, Paul Kohler and E. G. Laney are candidates who are said to be opposed to the present administration which is supported by three hold-over councilmen, P. H. Orr, M. C. Williams and G. S. Wren.

United the East Point system three councilmen are held over and three new ones elected each year. This is the first time in many years that the councilmanic race is one of parties rather than personalities, it was said.

Mississippi Governor PLANS SPECIAL SESSION

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 12.—(AP)—Governor Sonett Conner laid plans tonight for a special session of the Mississippi legislature, but would not say where the session call would be called.

The Governor issued proclamations calling the special session. One proclamation is in house and one in the senate for September 27, and his action was taken to mean that an extraordinary session will be called shortly thereafter.

NEW DEAL LAWS MOVE TO U. S. HIGH COURT

Appeals From Slum Clearance, Bankhead Act, PWA, TVA Among Cases.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—(AP)—The parade of New Deal laws to the supreme court continued today with a government appeal from a decision denying the right to condemn land for slum clearance projects.

In Louisville state power courts held that the property would not be taken "for a public use," and that the Works Administration therefore could not exercise the sovereign right of eminent domain.

Avenues of Fashion with Esquire

With the approach of the time when one must discard the old Chapeau de Paille, as the French so deftly term hats of straw, the attendant activity of selecting a hat of felt is upon us. The problem that is present for those of unusual height or girth is one that would well take several volumes to propound. However, here we will concern ourselves only with the current fashion in top pieces and discuss a complete wardrobe of hats for day wear. One need not own all these hats, but the advantage of having several to be used with appropriate types of clothes is apparent.

HARD HAT

The derby, as it is called in England in honor of its originator, the Bowler, is ever useful for wear in town, although originally made to serve as a headguard for huntsmen. Fashion favors this hat with a full slightly belled crown and fairly flat brim.

SMART HAT

Growing in popularity is the Homburg of black or midnight blue, an alternate for the derby and correct for wear with tuxedo or dinner clothes.

SOFT HAT

The dark brown snap brim, with its black band, may have either bound or raw edge and is a favorite with university men for on and off campus wear.

ROUGH HAT

The Homberg in scratch finish is particularly appropriate for early au-impervious to weather, they have a nonchalance that is decidedly smart.

CAP

The smart cap, made in one piece in a distinct plaid such as the Prince of Wales sports, is a far cry from the sort of thing that is part of the props of a movie gunneman.

AT ATLANTA'S THEATERS

Bowe's Amateur Show On Loew's Grand Stage

Something new and popular in the way of stage entertainment, Major Bowe's Amateur Show, one of the most famous of amateur dramatic programs, comes to Loew's Grand theater this week, starting today, with the new Laurel and Hardy feature picture, "Bonnie Scotland." The stage entertainment, with Loring Smith representing Major Bowe as gong master and introducer, is the first of five units which have been organized to present programs of the famous amateur show.

"Bonnie Scotland," is a hilarious farce exploiting the irrepressible comedy of Laurel and Hardy. It derives its name from the opening sequences of the film, which take place in Scotland; soon however, the action veers to India, where the comedians perform exploits which make "The Lives of a Bengal Lancer" seem a comparatively sedentary existence.

Pretty June Lang and William Janney provide the romantic interest in "Bonnie Scotland." Miss Lang is the heiress to fortune Stanley McLaurel goes to Scotland to claim his inheritance, he receives only a few useless pieces of furniture as his share of the fortune. McLaurel and Hardy soon enlist themselves, however, in the girl's aid, for designing relatives are trying to separate her from the young man she loves, and spirit the girl off to India in hope of breaking up the romance. McLaurel and Hardy blunderingly come to Cupid's aid, accidentally abetting the lovers, and getting themselves involved with murderous outlaws, Indian cobras, and various other odd opponents.

The lineup for the Major Bowe show emphasizes the wide range of talent this famous radio program exploits. To be seen and heard on the stage are Marie Woods, the amateur Sophie Tucker; Tom Hinson, duclimer player; Ignor Evans, tenor from Oxford; University McCormack and Herring; Eddie O'Connor, mezzo-soprano; Dave Siegel, 17-year-old impersonator; Madelon O'Neill, personality singer; Bert Sweeney, Irish accordionist; Skeets Simmons, hobo barnyard imitator; Michael O'Brien, the Texas lumberjack; and the Red Bank Rangers, four hillbillies from New Jersey.

The show opens at 8 p.m. Saturday and Sunday evenings.

There are three prizes given each Friday night to the winners of these contests. The first is $10. The second prize is $5 and the third is one month's pass to the Capitol.

The management wishes to emphasize the fact that everyone is eligible to enter one of these contests. There is no age limit or restrictions as to type of act presented. All necessary to enter is to register with the doorman of the theater.

Along with the amateur contest will be the regular stage and screen program. The present screen attraction is "This Woman Is Mine," which with the stage show, "Vanities of 1935," will end their run Saturday.

Starting Sunday, the Capitol will offer another gala stage and screen program, featuring a stage presentation with 70 people. This attraction is afforded by the regular stage show augmented by another of the Reese prologues. This particular prologue entitled "Brewster's Millions" will open at 8 p.m. This new screen attraction Sunday will be "Woman in the Dark."

for a big Broadway production, recognizes her, and engages her to play on Broadway. He is taken with the doorman of the theater, and signs him for many times the salary he is getting.

Ann is shut out in the cold, and gets back to her old vaudeville job.

How Patricia took Joe for a ride and how it works out to a reconciliation with Ann forms the plot around which the action develops to a new and surprising climax.

There are four songs, one sung by Ann Dvorak, one by Patricia Ellis, one by Esther Burke and chorus, all written by Mort Dixon and Alie Wrubel. The fourth song is sung by Bert Kalman and Harry Ruby.

INCREASE IN BUSINESS REPORTED BY BANKERS

through the correspondence chapter of the institute.

The major portion of the day was spent by the visiting bankers in studying the provisions and applications of the banking act of 1935 and the cost and application of the social security program enacted by the last congress. The discussion of the banking act was led by W. S. Elliott, of Canton, and Ronald Ransom, of Atlanta, chairmen, respectively, of the state and national legislative committees. The subject of social security was presented by W. A. Adamson, of Atlanta.

The standing committees were announced by President H. Grady Langford, of Meansville, for the ensuing year. J. Truman Holland, Thomasville, heads the committee on bank management; Wade G. Murray, of Alva, the committee on trust affairs; W. S. Elliott, the legislative committee, while Alva G. Maxwell, Atlanta, is national councilor of the United States Chamber of Commerce. Lee S. Trimble, vice president of the Atlanta Bankers Association, chairman of the executive council, while the agricultural and educational committee functions will be under the leadership of the chairman above named.

Trophy for Newspaper.

The governing body of the Bankers' Association voted to present to the weekly newspaper which has performed the most distinguished service in the interest of recovery and prosperity during the past year a trophy similar to the award which has been made for a number of years heretofore. This is a handsome bronze tablet, engraved either as an easel or as a small panel.

It was announced at this meeting that, in conformity with the banking act of 1935, all banks whose deposits are insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation will hereafter receive the protection of the United States Social Security Act in connection with all bank crimes that come within the definition of the act. This service has heretofore been available only to national banks and to state bank members of the Federal Reserve System.

The bankers in Atlanta were joined by Eugene of Freeman Strickland, assistant vice president of the First National Bank and treasurer of the Georgia Bankers' Association. In addition to those already mentioned, there were present at the meeting: S. W. Lewis, Statesboro; E. B. Rimes Jr., Louisville; Herbert Huckabee, Fort Valley; Orville A. Park, Macon; R. E. Gormley, Atlanta, and Haynes McFadden, Atlanta.

Western Ranch Experiences Prove Vastly Interesting for Atlantans

By Sally Forth.

THAT catchy melody, "Heading for the Last Roundup," will always recall happy memories to five prominent Atlantans whose visits to western ranches the past summer were crammed full of interesting experiences. Mr. and Mrs. Donald McClain and their children, Helen and Donald Jr., were at the A-A cattle ranch 8,000 feet up in the Rockies at Encampment, Wyo. Spreading over 40,000 acres, the ranch formed a perfect spot for cowboys to give visitors a treat as they led them on thrilling rides over trails which were filled with adventure and romance. The lands were once used as Indian territory, and around with abandoned gold mines, and ghost towns made famous in the days of the forty-niners.

Mrs. McClain and little Helen are ardent riders and rode every day, while Mr. McClain and young Donald Jr. chose to cast their fishing tackles into the cold mountain streams as their favorite pastime. Mrs. McClain confides to Sally that at the A-A ranch riding clothes are taboo and one rides in old faded overalls, which are the accepted costumes from dawn to dusk.

Colonel Richard Kimball, of Fort Ogletorpe, was at the A-A ranch from these parts, the occasion marking his first visit, his wife and lovely daughter, Miss Mildred Kimball, of Chattanooga, having previously visited there.

Judy Beers has returned from an equally interesting roundup at King's ranch, near Corpus Christi, Texas. She visited Catherine Klingberg, whose parents own the ranch. They rode all day every day, and one of the thrilling features of the visit was the branding of the cattle with the mark of the ranch, "Running W." Riding a western saddle was a novelty to the two girls, for during their school days last year in Washington, English saddles were used.

When the McClains left their Cherokee road residence for their summer trip they went first to New Hampshire, where, at Melville Village, golf on the beautiful Bald Peak Colony Club course was their favored sport. Swinging on toward the west, they went to Greenville, Ohio, where they visited their mothers, Mrs. E. L. McClain and Mrs. E. G. Miller.

Their Ohio trip also featured their participation in the Grand American trap shooting meet at Vandalia, which, as you know, is the home of the American Trap Shooters Association. The meet is the largest of the year and shooters assemble from throughout the nation. This year Atlanta was very fortunate in being represented by two squads. As has been revealed through the sports pages, Mrs. McClain for the third time won the coveted title of runner-up in the women's division.

ATLANTA friends of Vernon Kimball Edwards were delighted over her surprise arrival here yesterday. She was accompanied by her husband, William Raymond Edwards. They made the trip by motor from their home in Miami, where they are numbered among that city's most popular young marrieds. Their home in Coral Gables is one of the most attractive in that fashionable section. They entertain frequently during the gay winter season and are always included among guests assembling prominent residents of the tropical city.

Vernon resided in Atlanta as a young girl with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Massengale. Soon after her family moved to Miami she became a prominently identified with that city's younger set. Following her debut she joined Miami's Junior League and is considered one of the League's most valued members. She takes a prominent part in all of that organization's activities. Her artistic and dramatic ability has been largely responsible for the success of the numerous plays sponsored by the Miami Junior League.

Vernon's young sister, Allyn, also enjoys wide popularity in Miami. Sally hears that Allyn will attend Ogontz school in Rydal, Pa., this winter. Her roommate will be Betty Barco, daughter of Judge and Mrs. Samuel J. Barco, of Miami. After spending a few days here, Vernon and Ray will motor to New York, where they will meet their sister to accompany her to Pennsylvania for enrollment at Ogontz.

WHEN Virginia Irene Banks treads the orange blossom trail on October 26 to become the bride of Dr. James Oliver St. John in Newnan, she will wear her mother's wedding dress, made of white crepe de chine trimmed in real lace. The date will also commemorate the day that Miss Irene Murph, the bride-elect's mother, became Mrs. Samuel Banks at a ceremony taking place in Marshallville on October 26, 1904.

Virginia Irene is the third generation in her maternal family to attend Wesleyan College in Macon. Her mother went to Wesleyan and her grandmother, the late Mrs. I. F. Murph, as Irene Baldwin graduated with first honor in the class of 1867. The bride-elect has in her possession the valedictory manuscript written by her grandmother. Virginia Irene and Dr. St. John will be married at a home ceremony in Newnan.

Parish Council Group Will Meet Sunday.

The Business Women's Chapter of the Parish Council of the Woman's Club of Atlanta, Dr. Philip will meet at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Allan V. Gray, 805 Virginia circle, N. E. G. B. Van Deene, president of the National Library Bindery Association, will speak. He has recently returned from a trip abroad, where he spoke before large gatherings in Amsterdam, The Hague, Holland, and in Russia, on "The Art of Fine Book Binding." He visited the Scandinavian countries, Finland, England and Canada. Mrs. A. B. Mason, manager of the Atlanta branch of the National Library Bindery, will present him to the meeting.

Mrs. Nelle Burlingame, chairman; Mrs. Betty Garner, official hostess for the chapter; Mrs. Theo Lewis, treasurer; Mrs. O. M. Collison, vice chairman, and Mrs. J. H. Patterson, secretary, will assist in entertaining.

W. C. T. U. ENDS SESSION, ASKS POLITICAL PLANK.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 12. (P)—The Women's Christian Temperance Union closed its 61st annual convention tonight with renewed resolve to recapture as many localities as possible while pursuing its ultimate aim of making the world a better place to live.

Concerning legislation known as "a tragic failure," the convention appealed to citizens to require "a plain positive declaration" for prohibition from the political party which sought their support.

How to Have a Soft, Smooth, Exquisite Skin

For red, coarse, oily or shiny skin, and rough, spotted, wrinkled complexion, never use ordinary face powder because it clogs up the pores and creates an unhealthy condition. In place of powder, foundation creams and lotions, use Cu-Crema, which will produce a beautifully clear, soft, smooth and white skin.

Cu-Crema contains absolutely no mercury, yet is guaranteed to remove "shine" and make your skin soft, smooth and lovely in an unbelievably short time. Soothing and refreshing, its presence cannot be detected, except for its charming, delicate odor. Cu-Crema is considered by many the best cosmetic for all complexions. It is also a favorite for all complexion preparations because it gives the skin an appearance of natural loveliness without that "powdered" look.

Cu-Crema does not rub or dust off on clothing and is therefore excellent for use on the neck, arms and hands. It is positive that it has a "heal." A large area of white, flesh or brunette for only 50¢ at all drug and department stores. (advt.)

RETAIL LUMBER GROUP FORMS ORGANIZATIONPOWER COMPANY DATA TENDERED TO PROBERS*Georgia Building Material Institute Created at Meeting Held Here.*President Arkwright Says Congress Committee Can Get All Information.

More than 150 retail lumber and building material dealers from various sections of the state met at the Henry Gray hotel Thursday to complete organization of the Georgia Building Material Institute.

This organization has for its purpose the betterment of industry conditions through co-operative action to assist in the promotion and improvement of conditions that affect the relationship between retail building material dealers and the building public.

The morning session was devoted to acceptance of the charter for the organization, the election of members, adoption of by-laws and the election of officers.

During the afternoon session Judge Paul A. Webster, counsel for the Florida Building Material Institute, spoke on "Functions of the Institute." Talks on "The Institute—Associate Member Viewpoint," were given by W. E. Difford, of Louisville, Ky.; T. W. Baxter, of Athens, and Hal Drake, of Atlanta. J. Ben Wand, editor of the Southern Lumber Journal, Jacksonville, spoke on "Business and Government."

Officers of the newly formed organization are: J. Roy Nonnally, Monroe, Ga., president, and J. B. Lee, Augusta, vice president. The directorate consists of Herbert J. West, Atlanta; T. W. Baxter, of Athens; Hal Drake, of Atlanta; J. B. Miller, Griffin; Alexander Chambers, Macon; P. S. Knox Jr., Thomson, W. E. Gross, Columbus; W. Smith, Albany, and C. M. Peddicord, Brunswick.

The meeting will be continued throughout Friday, at which sessions a program of business will be outlined, discussed and adopted. Following the business sessions Thursday a banquet was served.

G. A. R. WILL MEET WITH VETS OF GRAYVeterans of North and South Will Convene in Gettysburg in 1938.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Sept. 12.—The Veterans of the Confederate Army voted today, after a bitter floor fight, to accept Pennsylvania's invitation for a joint meeting of union and Confederate veterans in 1938 on Gettysburg battlefield.

Resolution by James W. Willett, of Tallahassee, would have required the southern veterans to promise not to display the Stars and Bars at the Gettysburg meeting was voted down.

Harding T. Merrill, of Wichita, Kas., was cheered when he said "it would be a good idea to let the Confederates carry on in their grade. They will be guests, we will act as guests should toward their hosts."

The Confederate veterans already have accepted the Pennsylvania invitation.

SENIATOR NORRIS VISITS BIG DAM IN TENNESSEE

NORRIS, Tenn., Sept. 12.—(P)—Sen. George W. Norris of Nebraska, today saw for the first time the giant $34,000,000 dam which he helped to make possible for whatever public interest there may be in the project.

The Senate committee investigators have already gone into the matter thoroughly and they stated to us that they found our record clean, but if the house committee wishes to probe further, we will be glad to cooperate with them.

of the Confederacy and the politics of the reconstruction period.

He became secretary of the Georgia supreme court justices in 1887 and, thereafter, assistant reporter of the supreme court and assistant reporter of the court of appeals. Jointly with Judge George W. Stevens, he compiled and edited the state law reports beginning with the 98th volume of Georgia Reports.

He lived in Marietta until the death of his wife and since that time he has resided in Atlanta at the Pershing Point apartments. He has been prominent in civic and cultural circles.

Director of Burns Club.

He was a member of the Atlanta Burns Club, of which he was a life director. He was president of this organization when it erected the picturesque Burns cottage, said to be the only replica of the home of the Scottie King, Robert Burns. He was one of the two elected representatives of the United States in the Burns Federation, a world-wide organization with headquarters in Scotland, and was a member of its executive board. He addressed the federation at its meeting in Greenock, Scotland, in 1900.

He was widely traveled and was active up until the time of his illness, having returned from a boat trip to New York only a few days before he was taken sick.

He was a member of the American Geographical Society and the Atlanta Lawyers' Club and was active in the work of the bar associations. During his career, he drafted much important legislation, including the amendment to the state constitution which established the court of appeals, the compulsory school attendance law and minimum wage law. He was a life member of the American Law Institute, which is engaged in a restatement of American law as laid down by the courts.

Wrote Many Articles.

He was a charter member of the Atlanta Historical Association and a member of its executive committee. He wrote many articles on little-known historical facts, many of which appeared in Atlanta newspapers.

He was also a member of the Pioneer School Boys' Association, of which he was a past president, the Studio Club, the Writers Club, the Knights of Columbus and the Catholic Laymen's Society. He was a member of the Sacred Heart Catholic church.

He is survived by a sister, Mrs. William Simpson, of Augusta; a brother, Frank T. Graham, of Columbia; S. C.; several nieces and nephews, including Mrs. Mrs. D. B. FINER TO SEE HAILEABOUT U. S. RECRUITING

MARSEILLE, France, Sept. 12.—(P)—Hal du Berrier, former stunt pilot who is persisting in his plan to form an American air squadron to fight for Ethiopia today aboard the liner America.

He said he would make final arrangements with the emperor for enlisting American volunteers in the Ethiopian cause, and said he had received more than 200 applications from Americans.

Berrier admitted he would combine his air squadron mission with a project for the sale of gas masks.

INCOME TAXPAYERSGIVEN DAY OF GRACE

An accident on the calendar adds a day to the grace period for tax payers this year, it was announced yesterday at the office of W. Eugene Page, federal internal revenue collector.

Payments may be made in person at the internal revenue offices or Monday will be accepted in the mail.

Persons who fail to get in under the wire Monday, however, will be considered in default and their December payment declared due.

SECOND TRIAL DATE IS SET FOR COSTLEY

The second trial of J. Hudson Costley on charges of assault with intent to murder Thomas A. Pruitt, alcohol traffic liquor, was set for Oct. 10, in federal district court.

Pruett was shot as he started a raid on Costley's Mill, near Conyers, Ga., and the first trial of Costley early in August resulted in a mistrial.

Robert Clark, negro, is charged jointly with Costley.

Crackers Beat Lookouts in First Game of Final Series, 4-3

COUNTRY CLUB, CLEVELAND, Ohio, Sept. 12.—Walton Emery came blazing into the semi-finals of the amateur championship this afternoon, the hottest man in the tournament.

And with him walked Charlie Yates, of Atlanta, who left the tournament yesterday when his game slumped a bit against John Nash, of Canada.

The two are fast friends and are about even in victories. And Yates' pride in Emery's accomplishment is balm to his disappointment in failing himself to reach the semi-finals.

Emery is six under par for six matches of the amateur and that is the hottest golf of the week. Lawson Little, the defending champion, is eight under par for the same number of matches. But Emery leads him by one stroke.

The Oklahoma City law student is the only one with a chance to beat Lawson Little, it seems. Johnny Goodman, also in the semi-finals with a great deal of trouble, is 12 over par for his six matches, which indicates just how his game has compared with that played by Emery and Little.

We came toward the eighth hole this afternoon with Emery in a close match with Jack Munger, of Dallas.

"Emery," said Yates, "won't get nervous. He has all the nerve in the world."

And just then Emery proved it. His drive had gone to the left in deep rough. There were a dozen small trees between him and the green. Yet he nonchalantly blasted the ball out of the tall grass with a spoon and was but three feet off the heavily bunkered green.

On nine he dropped a long putt for a deuce despite the fact the cup was almost stymied by Munger's putt.

The door was half shut but he went in to go 1 up. From then on, with that eighth and ninth in his mind, Munger dropped behind.

THE TALL SKINNY GIRL

The big, long car drove up to the Country Club. A fat lady of the middle years got out with a tall, skinny girl. "Where," she asked, "is Mr. Fred Haas, of New Orleans?" She was told that Mr. Haas was out on the course having a struggle for his golfing life in the national championship quarterfinals and was, at the moment, at about the fifth tee.

"Come on," she said firmly, taking the tall, skinny girl who looked rather sad, by the arm and starting her off toward the fifth tee. She looked very determined. And your correspondent, whose dogs were screaming for rest after having trudged after Mr. Walter Emery for 18 holes, began trudging after the fat lady with the sad-looking girl. It was some sort of a story.

"You just wait and see," said she, "I know what I am telling you. You just wait and see if he can't."

So we trudged on and at last we discovered Freddie Haas. Mr. Haas is 19 years old and is taller than six feet. He is thin. Very thin.

We watched Mr. Haas as he wound up and blasted one 250 yards down the fairway.

ALLISON BEATS WOOD FOR TITLE IN RECORD TIME

Texan Atomes for Bitter Failures in Past Ten Years.

By Henry McLemore.

FOREST HILLS, L. I., Sept. 12. (UPI)—In the short space of 49 minutes, Wilmer Allison, of Austin, today atomed for all the bitter failures and disappointments that have been his in 10 years of almost ceaseless campaigning on the tennis courts of the world.

In that short time—from 3:11 p. m. to 4 p. m. to be exact—Allison ousted Sidney B. Wood, of New York, in straight sets, 6-2, 6-2, to win the men's national singles championship of America and write his name beside that of Maurice McLoughlin, Big Bill Tilden, Henri Cochet, Rene Lacoste, Ellsworth Vines, and other giants on the big silver trophy. Allison stood on the lawn for the presentation ceremony, still in his working clothes but with his thinning hair neatly slicked and worn a grin that said better than words, "It's been worth it."

CAME THROUGH.

You know as they handed him the big silver cup that he had forgotten the Allison who, after his Davis cup licking this year, said sadly, "I guess I just wasn't meant to win." Also forgotten were the other Allisons who, in the past, had come so close to victory.

As gratified as the crowd was at the final success of the man who when he was left off the Davis cup team was yet another to no avail fit for international play, it couldn't help but feel sorry for Wood. For Sidney today had the double misfortune of being badly off his game and meeting a foe who was blazing. Only occasionally did the New Yorker find his true game, and while his poor play was undoubtedly due in part to his lack of tennis equipment, he is capable of much finer tennis.

WOOD WRONG.

Allison's play was enough to shake the stoutest heart, crumble the most resolute defense. As against Perry yesterday, the Texan could do no wrong. He hit with such rapacity and length off both wings that Wood, one of the grandest players in the world, never could compare the new show his craftsmanship. Throughout the match the New Yorker stood shackled to the baseline as Allison's drives screamed low over the net to dig in close to the backline.

But it was when he charged in behind these drives to take the net, that Allison was most sensational. Once entrenched at the nibble, the Texan was, inescapable. No matter where Wood hit the ball, Allison was always there, ready to murder it for a point. He was so potent in the short court that Wood was forced to shoot at pin-point openings, and shoot at pin-point openings successfully, a man must be riding the top of his game with his touch as sure as a surgeon's knife.

"Come on," she said firmly, taking the tall, skinny girl who looked rather sad, by the arm and starting her off toward the fifth tee. She looked very determined. And your correspondent, whose dogs were screaming for rest after having trudged after Mr. Walter Emery for 18 holes, began trudging after the fat lady with the sad-looking girl. It was some sort of a story.

We watched Mr. Haas as he wound up and blasted one 250 yards down the fairway.

Wood's touch wasn't that sure. He was bogged down in errors all afternoon. He tried to lob Allison back but quit when the Texan smashed the lobes for kills. And to show you Allison's accuracy today, not one or two, but a half dozen of these kills caught the side or baseline smack in the middle.

The point score and stroke analysis clearly show the Texan scored 91 points to 62 for Wood. He had 20 placements to 13 for Wood. And the New Yorker's nets and outs totaled 68 against Allison's 46.

Mrs. Butler Meets Mrs. Brown for Title

Mrs. E. A. Brown, medalist, and Mrs. Guy Butler, who qualified with a 92-103 record, will meet in the finals, the Miler & Berkely women's golf tournament at Franklin park this morning at 9:30.

Mrs. Brown advanced to the finals by defeating Mrs. J. R. Roe, 5-4, yesterday. Mrs. Brown was playing the same good game that she shot when she won the title.

Mrs. Butler won from Mrs. J. C. Wright, 6-5. In every match which Mrs. Butler has played she has closed her opponent out at 13.

Finals of the consolation flight, played Thursday morning, gave the edge to Mrs. George Griffin, Jr. She beat Mrs. M. S. Menzer, 2 up. She had previously defeated Miss Grace Moore.

Dunn Beats Hubert In Colored Fight

Roy Dunn, veteran local colored middleweight, won an Atlanta ring at the auditorium Thursday night, easily defeating the American Sporting Club, and proved that he has lost none of his old skill by taking T. Hubert, rangy youngster, easily into camp. Relying on a tantalizing left jab and a sweeping right uppercut, Dunn pounded Hubert into the ropes, forcing the latter to give him for a nine-count in the second. Hubert dropped to his knees without being hit midway in the third heat, and was disqualified by Referee Tim O'Dowd.

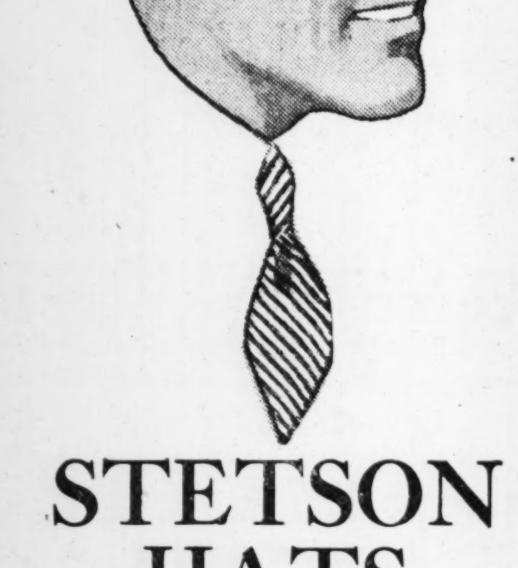

Billed as half of a double windup, the 10th round go between Hook Finley and Prince Albert, New York middleweight, proved something of a disappointment. Albert earned a draw with a fast finish in the last two rounds, though he inflicted no damage.

Following a lively battle royal that the large crowd enjoyed Johnny Hwang and Tommy Lee, featherweights, went for a draw, 10-10.

Today men appreciate the truth that women have always known—that no article of wearing apparel contributes quite so much to the joy of life as a hat that is attuned to style and in harmony with your personality. Such a hat is Stetson's Kenton—offered in a smart array of rich fall colorings.

DIZZY DEFEATS GIANTS IN FIRST; TIGERS WIN, 8-5

Dean Bags 26th; Jo White Leads Attack on Yanks.

All major league box scores can be found on Page 19.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12. (UPI)—The St. Louis Cardinals hurled back the New York Giants in the opening game of their crucial series today, 8-5, and dealt a damaging blow to the pennant chances of the Terrymen. The defeat left the Giants 4-12 games from the top and 3-12 behind the second-place Chicago Cubs, who trail the Cards by one game.

Dizzy Dean struck out eight men and allowed but seven hits in scoring his 26th victory of the season.

The Dean brothers have now won 44 games, only one short of their predicted goal. Carl Hubbell started for New York but was beaten by Dizzy. The Cards' last hit was a single by Rothrock, Frisch and Jimmy Collins gave the Cards a run in the first inning. Terry Moore hit a home in the second. Dean's single, Martin's double and Rothrock's single accounted for the Cards' last four runs.

The Cards' last hit was a single by Rothrock, Frisch and Jimmy Collins' triple and Davis' single in the ninth accounted for the Giants' two tallies.

CUBS WIN NINTH.

The Chicago Cubs extended their winning streak to nine straight by walloping the Brooklyn Dodgers, 13-3.

Lon Warneke held the Dodgers to eight hits and hung up his 18th victory. Angie Galan led the Cub's attack with four hits, including a homer and a double, and drove in five runs.

The Cub made 15 hits off Bengo, Munro and Green.

Big Jim Weaver pitched the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 11-0 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies, allowing seven hits. Young and Lavagetto, with the help each, led the Pirates 15-hit assault on Pezullo and Brink.

Cincinnati won from the Boston Braves, 4-2, with Rookie Gene Schott having the pitching edge on Bob Brown. Triples by Cuyley, Herman and Riggs in the sixth and seventh innings produced the Reds' winning margin.

TIGERS GAIN.

The Detroit Tigers moved nearer the American league pennant by coming from behind to defeat the New York Yankees, 8-5. The victory increased the Tigers' lead over the Yanks to 8-2-2 games. The Yanks went into the night with a 10-10 record.

The Tigers forged ahead when Gehring singled, Greenberg tripled and Golsbin homered. The Yanks tied the score, 5-5 in their half of the eighth when Finch-Hitter Tony Lazzeri singled to score Combs, running for Dickey who had walked. Dickey clinched the game with the ninth with a three-run homer.

Early Whiteman pitched a three-hit game as Washington won from Cleveland, 3-0. Monte Pearson, who started the game for the Indians, contributed to his own downfall by walking seven men in four innings.

Owen tripped and White hit the second and homed of his major league career. Eldon Alton allowed the Yanks nine hits, the same number the Tigers had, but Ruffing, Murphy, Bronx and Tracy each had two.

The Athletics' gain was a 13-game losing streak by taking a double-header from the Chicago White Sox, 11-2 and 4-3.

Jimmy Fox had a perfect day at bat in the first game, getting a single and two homers, No. 32 and No. 33, respectively, one behind Hank Greenberg, Detroit, for the major league lead. The A's batted Vernon Kennedy, recent author of a no-hit, no-run game out of the box in four innings, while Harry Marcum limited the White Sox to five hits. In the second game Valie Eaves, Atlanta, pitched a no-hitter from Oklahoma, allowing only seven hits to win his initial start.

The St. Louis Browns defeated the Boston Red Sox, 6-2, behind Sugar Cain's seven-hit pitching. Harlan Clift, Brown's third baseman, scored three runs. Jack Wilson, Red Sox rookie, held the Browns to seven hits and three runs until the ninth when four singles accounted for three runs.

The athletic events are to take place between the double-headers.

The first game will be called at 2 o'clock. Immediately preceding the second game, prizes will be offered for fungo hitting, two long distance, pitching, hitting, pitching events, pitching in barrels, catchers pegging to second base, circling the bases, 100-yard dash. All these events are for the players only.

There will be appropriate prizes for each one of these events.

After the nightcap and at 8 o'clock to 10 p. m. a reception will be held at the Elks Club, 736 Peachtree street, N. E., for Eddie Moore, Cracker team, and the Chattanooga Lookouts, on the relays of the club from Spencer Abbott.

Following is the complete text of the announcement as released by the Elks yesterday:

At a meeting Wednesday night at the Elks Club it was decided to hold "Eddie Moore Day" on Sunday, Sept. 15, to honor the Cracker team for its 12 games after taking over the reins of the club from Spencer Abbott.

Last year, Moore was thus honored by after steering the Cracker team to victory in 12 games after taking over the reins of the club from Spencer Abbott.

The Elks have proclaimed the occasion "Eddie Moore Day." There will be a few presents for the skipper, some foot races and field events between games.

ATLANTA TO GET MICHIGAN PEACHES

Last of Nation's Big Crops
To Be Marketed Estimated at 24 Million Bushels.

Enough peaches to fill 25 train-loads of 100 cars each have started to move from the municipal fruit market at Benton Harbor, Mich. This huge harvest will provide Atlanta housewives with choice canning stock at economical prices.

Michigan, which is the last of the nation's big peach crops to be marketed, is estimated at two and one-fourth million bushels. Two million bushels will be picked in Berrien county where the Benton Harbor fruit market is located.

Because of unfavorable weather conditions that have cut production and increased prices this year on many fruits, home canners probably will purchase heavily of the coming crop.

Last year buyers and truckers hauled peaches from the city-owned Benton Harbor market to consumers in 26 states. Among the purchasers were many home canners in Georgia.

At the present time South Haven, Halehaven, Rockford and Admiral Dewey peaches are being sold at Benton Harbor in liberal quantities and at comparatively low prices. The huge crop of Elbertas, which is a favorite for dessert and canning purposes, will be offered by farmers during the week of September 12.

Hale, Lemon Free and Smock peaches will follow to make the offering on that market this year a million bushels. Practically all of these varieties will be brought to Atlanta by truckers and retailers in the community.

GRAND JURY TO NAME PROBE GROUP TODAY

A committee charged with conducting the investigation of Fulton county affairs probably will be appointed today at the regular session of the September-October grand jury, Walter S. Pharr, foreman announced yesterday.

No plans for the investigation have been completed, so far as known, with the exception of statements previously made by Foreman Pharr that the probe, which is required by law, will take in all phases of county government and affairs.

Pharr and his jurymen had said that the special investigating committee would be named Tuesday, but it was understood the jurors have already been selected and their names will be announced today.

VICTIM WRECKS CAR
BUT BANDIT GETS LOOT

J. C. Goldstein, a salesman residing at 451 Pulliam street, S. W., wrecked his car yesterday in a futile attempt to save $800 from a masked and armed bandit. He lost the money but escaped injury.

The bandit man his face partially covered by a handkerchief, stepped to the running board of Goldstein's machine as he arrived at his home. Goldstein started the car with a jerk, intending to dislodge the robber. He lost control of the machine, striking a tree. The robber kept his grip and comicalized the holding.
